THE COUNTRY BOY—Pathe

At the risk of his life he enters a burning building and rescues with a young woman in his arms. Need we say more.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES AS USED IN THE U. S. ARMY—Edison
This shows the spectator, at close range, just how dangerous explosives are handled in the army. Harmless if properly treated, yet they can work immense damage. Some of the views are spectacular in the extreme.

SALLY ANN'S STRATEGY—Edison
When farmer Wilkins sold the farm he was not going to let his hard working wife have anything to do with the disposition of the money. Let a woman tell him! But the sequel made him very humble indeed. A brisk comedy.

TO ERECT NEW $5,000 CHURCH

St. Paul's A. M. E. Zion Congregation will Erect Brick Structure during the Coming Summer. Replaces Frame Building.

The erection of a new church for St. Paul's A. M. E. Zion congregation is promised for the coming summer. It will replace the present frame structure on South Washington street and will occupy the corner of South Washington and Breckenridge streets, the present parsonage being moved farther back in the lot and facing on the latter street.

The new building will be of Gettysburg brick with a main auditorium and basement, the basement to be used for Sunday School purposes. The auditorium will be finished in oak and have a capacity of about 400, double the number of the present building. It will be thoroughly modern in appointments and an ornament to that section of town.

Plans are now being completed by John W. Crowe, the local architect, and the contract will be executed by William H. Johns. The structure is to cost approximately $5000 and work is to start in April.

Rev. W. O. Cooper, the pastor, has charge of the financial campaign and is conducting a vigorous plan to raise the necessary funds. The church is now in a very prosperous condition and in a fair which closed Saturday evening cleared $60 toward the building fund.

It is the hope of the pastor and his people that the comforts of the new structure when completed will mean the joining of the various local colored denominations and the establishment of a united congregation, comprising the three churches now in existence in Gettysburg.

LAY OUT TRACT

Open up Sixty Eight Acres on Mountain for Cottages.

Extensive improvements in the way of laying out and grading several new avenues just below Pen Mar park are promised that portion of the mountain for next summer.

Benjamin Shockey and son, Amos Shockey, have purchased a 68 acre tract of land just below the Western Maryland railroad. This tract lies between the Pen Mar and Blue Mountain roads.

Mr. Shockey and his son contemplate making this piece of ground into one of the most desirable building sites on the mountain. The tract has already been surveyed and four avenues laid out.

The great feature of this project will be the opening of an avenue between the Pen Mar road and the Blue Mountain road, below the railroad. This connection will eliminate the necessity of driving clear up around the park in order to reach the Blue Mountain House or points in that direction.

Already a number of lots along the projected avenue have been sold.

ONE OF THE BEST

"The Rosary" One of Best Plays ever Offered Gettysburg People.

It frequently happens that a good play in Gettysburg draws a small house, and next day those who failed to attend blame themselves for not being able to pick out the good ones. Friday evening was an exception, however, for a large audience gathered at the Wizard to see "The Rosary," one of the best plays which has ever been produced at that theatre. A thoroughly competent company interpreted the lines to the eminent satisfaction of the house and the attraction was much appreciated. That more of the same kind will receive equal patronage, is the belief of the "regulars."

NEW FEATURES FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Periods for the Children with Special Corps of Instructors is the Idea now Being Arranged by the State Managers.

Gettysburg expects to share in a new and interesting feature of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua Association next summer in Pennsylvania and neighboring states, known as the Junior Chautauqua. Last summer no provision was made for the children, except in so far as they enjoyed the varied program of the assembly planned for their seniors. This coming summer children from seven to fifteen years of age, will find themselves better provided for than will those of larger growth. In Gettysburg and each of the other ninety five towns arranging for a Chautauqua Assembly, under the auspices of the association, there will be a Junior Chautauqua, for the exclusive benefit of the children.

This Junior Chautauqua has been arranged by Prof. Paul N. Pearson, of Swarthmore College, who is head of the association, and will be in charge of Miss Anna Oppenlander, a member of the present Senior class at Swarthmore College. She, with eight young women and seven young men assistants, all undergraduates at Swarthmore, will give the children programs of story telling, folk-dances, games and songs. There will be talks by distinguished men and women, as for instance, Judge Lindsey, of Denver, walks for nature study; "hikes" like those of the Boy Scouts; athletics and graded work along recreational and out-door craft lines. This work will be competitive between the camps, and a banner will be awarded to the camp scoring the largest number of points during the season.

Miss Oppenlander will begin her work immediately after graduation in June. This work is not a matter of one summer only. During the winter she will visit all the camps and speak in the schools and the women's clubs, on the value of directed play, inspirational instruction, the child's outlook on life, the child and good citizenship, and allied topics.

NEW BANK BUILDING

New Ten Thousand Dollar Bank Building is Completed.

The handsome new $10,000 banking house of the Bendersville National Bank has been completed by contractor C. A. Boyer, of York, and turned over to the board of directors. Robert A. Stair, Jr., of York, was the architect. The building is a one story brick structure 31 x 42, of fire proof construction. It is located on Main street near the Square, has a large banking room, commodious room for the directors, ladies' room and is equipped with a vault that is both burglar and fire proof and has a number of safety deposit boxes installed. The building is finished throughout in quartered oak and has all the conveniences. This new building is a fine testimonial to the prosperity of the town as is also the fact that it is another of Adams County's thriving communities which has a greater demand for houses than can be supplied.

TO TELL FARMERS OF PARCEL POST

Adams County Farmers not Quick to Send in their Produce by Mail. Government to Advance Benefits of the System.

The post office department is completing plans for a parcel post educational campaign of nationwide scope among the farmers for the purpose of explaining the advantages of the new postal system as a transportation vehicle to deliver farm produce, such as vegetables, butter and eggs, direct from the farm to the city kitchen.

A number of Gettysburg people have used the parcel post to send eggs to friends in the city but comparatively few farmers seem to be taking advantage of the system.

Parcel post experts from the department will be sent during the coming year to the big state agricultural fairs to explain personally to the farmer how the parcel post can be utilized by him to get his products into the city kitchen. Arrangements will be made for these experts to be put on the program for speeches. These speeches will be well advertised in order to attract as many farmers as possible. The more knowledge the farmer has about the operation of the parcel post, the department officials feel, the larger and more appreciative patron of it he will become. How to pack vegetables, eggs and other produce so that they will not be damaged and how to reach the city customer will be fully explained.

As a conduit for the carriage of farm produce directly from the farm to the city kitchen the parcel post has not developed during its two months' operation. The farmers have not been made to realize how easily the system can be used. It is now utilized to a small extent for the transportation of eggs and butter.

ESPERANTO PLAY

Little Winifred Stoner Writes Play at Age of Ten Years.

Gettysburg people who have been watching with interest the progress of little Miss Winifred S. Stoner will be pleased with the following from the Pittsburgh Post:

Although the audience was fashionably late in arriving, every seat in Carnegie rehearsal hall was taken last evening at the first Esperanto play ever given here by Pittsburghers. It was called "La Grandega Lingvo," which means "The Big Tongue," and was written by a Pittsburgher, little Miss Winifred Sackville Stoner, Jr., who is only 10 years old. Thirty boys and girls and grown-ups who attend the free Esperanto class in Carnegie study room each Saturday evening, from 7 to 8 o'clock, composed the cast. The performance was novel, too, in the fact it was given by the pupils without a single rehearsal. They sang, danced and talked in Esperanto, yet no one in the audience failed to understand the plot.

COMPANY DISCHARGED

Hagerstown National Guard Company is Discharged without Honor.

Papers discharging Co. B, First Maryland Regiment, arrived in Hagerstown. Thirty-one members are discharged without honor for insubordination and refusal to obey the orders of their superior officers. The officers are given 60 days in which to make up another company, which, it is understood, will be begun at once. John W. Little is captain of the company. The members take exception to being discharged without honor and will fight the matter. It is claimed that some time ago the men asked for the resignation of Captain Little and, this being refused, they declined to attend meetings.

$2500 FOR LECTURESHIP

That Sum Provided as Part of Endowment. Work Progressing.

The friends of Gettysburg College will be pleased to know that the endowment campaign is enlisting an increasing interest in the college. The solicitors meet with hearty encouragement in their work. The prospects are cheering, but the work will require a steady pull and loyal support to the end.

An encouraging incident occurred recently. A gentleman who is deeply interested in Christian education made inquiry as to how he might arrange to have his purpose of founding a lectureship carried out, thinking at the time of providing for it in his will to assure its establishment in case he failed to be in position to pay in the funds before his death.

A plan was submitted which met with hearty approval, and the suggestion was made that he put the matter in the form of subscription notes such as are being used in the endowment campaign subscriptions. This also was quickly approved and he papers are now in the hands of the college treasurer. The donor wishes his name withheld until the lectureship becomes active.

The gift endowing this lectureship is the sum of twenty five hundred dollars. The plan contemplates a lecture or series of lectures annually or semi-annually by accredited scholars on some topic agreed upon by the committee regulating the trust, under the general title of 'Claims of Christianity on the College Man.'

GENERAL SICKLES

General Sickles' Failures should not be Overlooked by Officials.

The Springfield Republican says: Saving the country did not end at Gettysburg. The tragedy of General Sickles' career reminds one that there is a patriotism in keeping sacred a fiduciary trust as well as in losing a leg in battle. Attorney General Carmody, of New York State, has pursued exactly the right course in insisting that the Sickles shortage, for which there is no possible excuse, be made up. The general has been treated with extreme consideration and leniency, but there is a limit to the patience of the responsible authorities. If general Sickles has personal friends, they now have an opportunity to save him from further disgrace, but no one is justified in berating the state officers for their course.

The meeting was called to order by Pomona Master Arthur Roberts, the session was interesting, instructive and enjoyed by all present.

The following are some of the questions discussed: "What present day question needs the special attention of the Grange?" "What evidence is there that the world is growing wiser, brighter and better?" "Is Alfalfa a paying crop? How and when would you sow the seed?" What in your judgment is the best method of instruction?" There were also some entertaining recitations.

PETTY THIEVING

Pen Mar Section Proves Attractive For Petty Thieving.

Several cottages at Pen Mar Park and in the Blue Ridge section belonging to Baltimore and other city folk have been broken open by thieves recently and considerable loot has been carried off. It was at first thought that it was the work of tramps, who made an entrance for the purpose of spending the night when the temperature had almost reached the zero mark, but later developments show that it was the work of thieves, who are carrying off valuables. Besides entering the cottages at Pen Mar of John M. Newcomer, Joseph J. Oller, Edward O. Blair and Simon Wiener, the cottage of William Libby, Philadelphia, who has charge of the amusements at the park was broken open and a lot of silverware, a clock and bric-a-brac were carried off. All the cottages thus far robbed have caretakers, but the work of the thieves was done at night.

FIGHT CONTINUES IN MEXICO CITY

Both Sides Resume Fierce Bombardment.

BIG GUNS AGAIN IN PLAY

President Says Marines Have No Orders to Land, But Says Situation is "Most Dangerous."

Mexico City, Feb. 18.—The ninth day's fighting between the federalists and the rebels began early.

General Rubio Navarette, commanding the federal artillery, opened fire on the arsenal from batteries planted in the Calle San Juan de Letran, which runs north and south five blocks east of the Diaz stronghold.

The center of the city is now practically clear of foreigners and citizens. The American residents had taken advantage of Sunday's truce to retire to the Colonia Roma or two small towns near the capital or to entrain for Vera Cruz. Before the bullets sounded from the federal lines 200 Americans, including many women and children, boarded a train for Vera Cruz.

Although the fighting was as severe as on any day since the revolt began, there was less alarm among the citizens, because the diplomatic corps had been able to get the consent of both Madero and Diaz to limit the area of fighting. The artillery and machine gun fire was confined to the district between the Alameda and the Ciudadela and to a few streets to the eastward of that district. No shells dropped anywhere near the American embassy.

At daylight federal batteries and sharpshooters occupied the Calle San Juan de Letran, the Plaza San Juan and several narrow streets in that quarter. General Navarette had placed machine guns on the roof of the general postoffice, near the National theater and on tall buildings commanding streets hitherto used by the federalists in their sorties.

The federalists opened the fighting by a vigorous shelling of the arsenal. Heavy field guns directed a hot fire against the arsenal. General Diaz and General Mondragon resumed with their heavy guns at long range attack upon the national palace and used half a dozen field pieces that were mounted on the roof of the arsenal in an attempt to silence the federal batteries in the Calle San Juan de Letran. Simultaneously the rebels operated numerous Maxim guns against the federalists in the Plaza de San Juan. The firing was very heavy.

General Huerta, the federal commander-in-chief, believes that the rebels can be starved into submission. The government says that Diaz's troops are now subsisting on horse flesh and that the rebel commander has not been able to get supplies from the outside. The government's plan is to harass Diaz until the rebels have used up their ammunition and their food supply.

President Madero agreed that the revolt can be conquered by starvation. The government now insists that further damage to public and private buildings will be the fault of the rebels.

There was a sensation when it became known that the government had discovered a conspiracy among well known residents to further Diaz's cause. Many arrests of prominent Mexicans were made and the government has redoubled its precautions. Strict censorship on all dispatches was maintained by the government. Operators reported that among the messages disapproved were several code telegrams filed by the diplomats. It was not learned whether or not any of the American ambassador's dispatches had been refused by the censors.

TAFT'S SHARP NOTE TO MADERO

No Promise is Made Regarding Intervention.

PROMPT RELIEF NECESSARY

Many Americans Leave For Vera Cruz. Will Try to Starve Out Rebels in Arsenal.

Washington, Feb. 18.—President Taft directed another movement to complete preparation for the sending of the armed forces of the United States into Mexico on behalf of the Americans in that country.

By his order 2000 marines will proceed to the American naval base at Guantanamo bay, Cuba, and establish a camp there in readiness for a movement on Mexico should it become necessary.

The army transport Meade left Newport News for Philadelphia, where she will take on board 1200 marines. Eight hundred additional marines will be taken on board by the naval transport Prairie at Norfolk and sail thence to Guantanamo.

This movement of marines, it was said, is not to be taken as an indication of an intention upon the part of President Taft to intervene in Mexico, but is merely to increase the preparedness of the government to send a relief expedition to Mexico City in case of necessity.

Besides putting the United States in a position to strike a quick and effective blow at Mexico in case of necessity it is hoped that this additional movement of marines will serve to notify Mexico that the United States is ready to act promptly whenever the situation seems to require it. It is intended by this move that President Madero and all elements in the contest, in Mexico City shall realize that President Taft hasn't by any means reached the conclusion that he will do nothing with regard to the Mexican situation.

Similar reasoning underlies the note sent to President Madero by President Taft in response to messages from the Mexican president asking the United States not to intervene. If President Madero hoped by this direct appeal to Mr. Taft to draw him into a statement of a permanent nonintervention policy in regard to Mexico he must have been bitterly disappointed when he received Mr. Taft's reply to his communication.

President Taft's note to President Madero was as follows:

"From your excellency's telegram, which reached me the 14th, it appeared that your excellency was somewhat misinformed as to the policy of the United States towards Mexico, which has been uniform for two years, or as to the naval or other measures thus far taken, which are measures of natural precaution. The ambassador telegraphed that when you were good enough to show him your telegram to me he pointed out this fact.

"Your excellency must, therefore, be aware that the reports which appear to have reached you that orders have already been given to land forces, were inaccurate. The ambassador, who is fully informed, is nevertheless again instructed to afford you any desired information. Fresh assurances of friendship to Mexico are unnecessary after two years of proof of patience and good will.

"In view of the special friendship and relations between the two countries I cannot too strongly impress upon your excellency the vital importance of the early establishment of that real peace and order which this government has so long hoped to see. Both because American citizens and their property must be protected and respected, and also because this nation sympathizes deeply with the afflictions of the Mexican people.

"In reciprocating the anxiety shown by your excellency's message I feel it my duty to add sincerely and with out reserve that the course of events during the past two years culminating in the present most dangerous situation creates in this country extreme pessimism and the conviction that the present paramount duty is the prompt relief of the situation.

STUDENT ROBBED THE DEAD

Rifled Clothing of Corpses in Morgue to Get Education.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 18.—The mysterious robberies at the county morgue were explained when Earl Wolfe, aged twenty years, a student, confessed to Coroner Jamison that he had been robbing the dead.

Wolfe is a student working his way through the University of Pittsburgh. He has been given extra work at the morgue. He told Coroner Jamison he took the money to aid him in getting an education, but that his conscience has made it impossible for him to sleep.

Wolfe says that when the morgue attaches were preparing a body for the mortuary he would go through the clothes taken from the corpse. He says he got $143 and a solid gold watch from the pockets of Joseph Van Gorder, a Troy, N. Y., salesman, who was killed on Jan. 23.

GIRL MAD OVER DIVA ENDS LIFE

Infatuated With Mary Garden She Shoots Herself.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—Miss Helen Newby, twenty years old, of Hecion, a suburb of Harrisburg, came to this city last week and made several unavailing efforts to interview Mary Garden, the opera singer, and a story got out that she was infatuated with the prima donna. On Sunday she committed suicide.

A dispatch from Harrisburg tells of the girl's act as follows: "Miss Helen Newby, a talented young musician, living at Hecion, committed suicide Sunday night. Her body was found after she had been searched for all night. Miss Newby spent most of last week in Philadelphia, where she attended the opera. When she returned on Saturday she seemed a bit overwrought, but not much attention was paid to that, and when she arose Sunday morning and dressed for a walking trip through the mountains the fact that she put a pistol in her muff did not cause any alarm, because it was her custom to take such jaunts and on most of them she went armed.

"When she did not return search was started, but it was unsuccessful, largely because of the fact that the party went too far afield. She was found along the bank of the abandoned Pennsylvania canal in the rear of her home and not 500 feet from it."

While in Philadelphia Miss Newby roomed with a young woman who had formerly lived in Harrisburg and whom she had known there. She told this friend that if she could kiss Mary Garden's hands she would be perfectly happy. Also she said she would like to be Miss Garden's maid.

JOAQUIN MILLER

PASSES AWAY

Poet of the Sierras Succumbs to Old Age.

BODY WILL BE BURNED

He Built a Funeral Pyre of Stone, on Which His Remains Will Be Cremated.

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—Joaquin Miller, poet of the Sierras, died at his home at the Heights on Hills, which overlook Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco bay.

Death came as the result of natural decline of physical force in the aged poet, who was seventy-two years old. Miller had been ill for five days and he had been confined to his bed for six weeks. His wife and his daughter, Juanita, were the only ones in attendance.

About a year ago Mr. Miller was taken seriously ill, and his wife, who had been separated from him for years, was induced by her daughter to visit and help care for the old poet. He recovered slowly, but it was only within the last two months that he was able to walk about unaided. One of his last visitors was Mrs. Langley, who went up to his home and revived recollections of Miller's great vogue in London twenty-five years ago.

Miller's body will be burned on a funeral pyre of stone, which he built with his own hands. Nearby is the tomb of rock which he erected to the memory of Moses. Nearby is the grave of his mother, who lived to be over ninety years old.

Miller entertained many celebrities at the Heights. His habit was to write in bed until noon. Then he appeared, arrayed like a cowboy, in a flannel shirt, sombrero, high boots and coriary trousers.

His place consisted of ten acres, over which were scattered dozens of small houses. One of these he occupied, another served for his wife and daughter, another for a dining room and others for visitors. He believed no two people should live under the same roof.

INDICT POLICE FOR GRAFT

Three New York Officers Charged With Bribery and Perjury.

New York, Feb. 18.—Police Inspector Dennis Sweeney gave himself up and was arraigned before Justice Gott on an indictment returned by the extraordinary grand jury a little while before, charging him with bribery.

Besides the inspector were two policemen, who were plain clothesmen on his staff. These were Thomas F. Robinson and John J. Hartigan. Robinson was indicted on a charge of bribery made by a Harlem restaurant keeper and Hartigan was indicted for perjury on the basis of his statements made before the grand jury earlier in the day.

All were released on bail furnished by a surety company. Inspector Sweeney's bond was for $10,000, while the bail of the two policemen was $5000 each.

WILL QUIZ J. E. SIBLEY

Senate Campaign Probers to Send Commission to His Home.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The senate committee investigating campaign contributions has decided to send a commission to Franklin, Pa., to take the testimony of former Representative Joseph C. Sibley.

Letters written by Mr. Sibley to John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil company, and Archbold's letters to Sibley, have been a feature of the investigation. The committee had expected to have Sibley appear in Washington, as it was said he was anxious to explain his position.

Owing to illness his physicians think it would not be advisable for him to come to Washington and undergo the strain of an extended examination. Probably one senator will visit Mr. Sibley, together with a clerk and stenographer, to take his statement.

DIES UNDER FRIEDMAN CURE

Banker's Doctor Regrets Use of the New Treatment.

Berlin, Feb. 18.—J. B. McCloskey, a banker, of Muskogee, Okla., who died here, was a patient undergoing the Friedman treatment for tuberculosis.

McCloskey came to Berlin a month ago, accompanied by Dr. Chisholm Rogers, who was commissioned by Senator Gore to make a special report on the treatment.

Dr. Rogers refused to comment on the German scientist's cure, but said that he thought it would have been better for McCloskey had been allowed to continue the precautions prescribed by his American physicians in connection with the Friedman injections.

Defeat "Free Tolls" Repeal.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Senator Root's bill to repeal the provision of the Panama canal law giving free passage to American coastwise ships was rejected by the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals. A motion to table it carried, 7 to 3. Senators Brandegee, Page and Percy supporting it.

Would Kill Insane Son.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—"The Insane ought to be killed. If nothing is done to find out the cause of insanity and its cure I would ask that my son, who is hopelessly insane, be killed," said Dr. Bayard Holmes to members of the Modern Health League in a plea for the state study of the insane. The society adopted resolutions asking that 10 per cent of the annual outlay for maintenance of the Kankakee institution be spent on research work in an effort to discover a cure.

SOLDIERS STAB ENVER BEY

Leader of Young Turks Is Severely Wounded by Assassin.
London, Feb. 18.—Turkish soldiers attempted to assassinate and succeeded in badly wounding Enver Bey, the Young Turk leader.
Enver Bey last week made a disastrous effort to pierce the flanks of the Bulgarian army on the shores of the Sea of Marmora with a forlorn hope of Ottoman troops, who were beaten back with terrible losses.
Enver Bey was one of the leaders in the recent revolt of the Young Turks, which led to a renewal of the war between Turkey and the Balkan states. Several threats against his life had been made among the disaffected soldiery, who were aroused by the assassination of Nazim Pasha, their beloved commander-in-chief.

CHEER HIKERS

Put Gen Jones in Barber Chair and Make Her Speak.

Chester, Pa., Feb. 18.—General Rosalie Jones' on-to-Washington hikers left here this morning for Wilmington, Del., where the tried suffragettes will rest tonight and tomorrow.
When the army left Philadelphia 3000 U. of P. students gave them a noisy send-off. When word arrived that the hikers were coming the classrooms promptly were deserted.
As the vanguard reached the campus, Elizabeth Freeman, who served seven years with the English militants, and General Jones were hustled to historic Price hall and made to speak.
Then the army wanted to move on but the students wouldn't let them. Somebody raided a barber shop. Rosalie was lifted up and made an address in a rather quavering voice.
Police reserves had to break a path through the massed students. There were several broken heads owing to differences of opinion between students and police.
The boys tried to get Phoebe Hawn. She escaped. They did not bother Mrs. Boldt. Members of the army accuse her of lese majeste, saying she had gone ahead of the main body and corralled the crowds before General Jones got there.
Two recruits from Lebanon joined the army. They are Mrs. W. T. Williams, wife of a wealthy iron manufacturer, and Miss Virginia Patsche, sister-in-law of Major J. M. Shindel of the Fourth regiment, N. G. P.

Wm. Ziegler, Jr., Gets $800,000 A Year
New York, Feb. 18.—A trustee's account filed in the surrogate's court showed that when William Ziegler, Jr., became twenty-one years old last July he received an annual income of $800,000 from the estate of his father, the rich baking powder manufacturer, who died eight years ago. The Ziegler property now aggregates about 121,000,000.

The bill it signed by the governor will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1914. It is said that the governor will sign the bill, as it is similar to one he advocated in a message to the legislature.
